OSEZUA ON A MISSION

Reggae singer Osezua is on a mission to eradicate negativity with his music. The talented Manchester-born singer describes himself as a musical vessel for Jah.

His wide spectrum of music brings a unique new perspective – inspired by the troubles of the world – his mission is to unite the listeners and raise consciousness.

The U.S.-based singer launched his career in the 1990s. Since then, he has performed at events all over the US and other parts of the world, sharing the stage with the likes of Inner Circle, Beres Hammond, Damian Marley, Stephen and Rita Marley, Burning Spear and King Yellowman. His music is guaranteed to make you feel irie!

ABOUT OSEZUA

"Music was born inside me - everyday life brings those notes to the surface. I've been inspired by many things and many people, beginning with the all mighty Jah and my family: my children and my Queen.

Other musicians that have come before me have also inspired me on this musical journey, namely Les Campbell, one of the best drummers on the planet, and Mr. Alvin Brown, a friend and promoter that I hold in the highest regard.

My motto is: Stay in motion - the surest sign of life is motion. Music is no different - always be writing, always be recording, always be learning and always be performing. Stay in motion. Also, avoid self-doubt. It is the number one killer of dreams known to mankind. Believe in yourself, believe in your music!" There is enough on this earth for everyone's needs; but not nearly enough for everyone's greed - things have to change.

People perish for lack of knowledge - my contribution is to educate as many as possible through music.

I am excited and inspired by my journey - discovering new opportunities for songs with vision and purpose on a daily basis. I would like my music to be the catalyst for social change."
